四、閱讀測驗

A survey said the average Asian dad spent one minute a day with his children. The fact is many Asian males are terrible at kid-related things. I should know. I am one. So was my father. In fact, almost every direct male ancestor of mine has been an Asian father. What are the odds of that?

Child-rearing doesn't come naturally to guys. Of course, I am generalizing outrageously, but I'm a columnist. That's what we do. Yet, there's some truth in it. My mother knew the names of all the children in our social circle. My dad would occasionally refer to "the fat one," "the one with the elephant ears" and "the ugly one." My mother served kid food to kids. My dad added chilli sauce to everything. My mother always gave age-appropriate birthday gifts. My dad sneaked me into gangster movies, traumatizing me for life. My mother bought healthy fresh food at the market every day. My dad would only go shopping when there was nothing left in the refrigerator.

Yes, mothers are incredible people, but they are not entirely infallible. Yet honesty forces me to record the fact that mothers only know best 99.99 percent of the time. Here are some famous slip-ups.

The mother of Bill Gates: "If you're going to drop out of college and hang out with your needy friends, don't come running to me when you find yourself penniless." The mother of Albert Einstein: "When you grow up, you'll find that sitting around thinking about the nature of time and space won't pay the grocery bills."

Now if you will excuse me, I have to go and spend another 11 seconds with my children.

- 【2】46. What is the author's attitude toward the fact that Asian males are not so concerned about kid-related things?
① This fact surprises the author.
② The author thinks this fact usually happens in Asian family.
③ The author feels disappointed at Asian males.
④ This author urges that fathers should spend more time with their children.
- 【2】47. What does the word "infallible" in paragraph 3 mean?
① Brave.                      ② Correct.                      ③ Honest.                      ④ Tender.
- 【3】48. What is the similarity between Bill Gates' mother and Albert Einstein's mother?
① They always supported their children.
② They were considerate toward their children.
③ They didn't believe their children were doing the right things.
④ They hoped their children could become successful businessmen.
- 【4】49. Which of the following statements is NOT mentioned in this article?
① The author has a typical Asian father.
② Sometimes, mothers give wrong ideas.
③ The author's mother knew the names of his friends.
④ The author's father watched animations with him for his birthday.
- 【2】50. What can we know about the author from this article?
① The author hates his mother because she does not like his dreams.
② The author admits that he does not spend much time with his children.
③ The author tries his best to prevent himself from being a typical Asian father.
