四、閱讀測驗【請依照段落上下文意,選出最適當的答案】

Ajay Banga is the new president of the World Bank. He recently shared his journey from a young man without a clear calling to his current position. In a keynote address at the Indian Institute of Ahmedabad, he reflected on his time as a student at the same institution. Ajay admitted that, when he graduated, he had no idea what he wanted to do with his life.

Born in Pune, India, in November 1959, Ajay grew up in a Sikh family. He completed his economics degree with honors at St. Stephen's College in Delhi. Later, he pursued a postgraduate degree at a prominent business school in India. He embarked on his professional career in 1981 as an intern at Nestlé and spent 13 years in various roles before transitioning to PepsiCo. At PepsiCo, he played a crucial role in introducing Pizza Hut and KFC to the Indian market during a time of economic liberalization. In 1996, he joined Citigroup, eventually moving to the United States and becoming a U.S. citizen in 2007. Two years later, he joined Mastercard and swiftly rose to the position of CEO.

During his tenure at Mastercard, Banga emphasized the importance of emerging markets, particularly in Asia. Under his leadership, the company experienced remarkable growth. The company's revenue tripled. Profits increased six-fold. Moreover, market capitalization expanded from under $30 billion to over $300 billion.

Banga believes that in today's rapidly evolving world, leaders must act with a sense of urgency and avoid procrastination. However, he also emphasizes the value of listening to others and taking "thoughtful risks" rather than waiting for perfect information, which is rarely attainable. He advocates for a mindset of being "competitively paranoid," constantly questioning assumptions and potential blind spots.

In his address, Banga encouraged the graduating class to not be overly concerned if they lacked a detailed plan for their lives. He emphasized that anyone can have a good idea or plan, but true greatness lies in execution.

- ① Focusing on emerging markets.
- ② Doubling down on developed nations.
- 3 Avoiding confrontation with employees.
- Raising capital ten times as much as his predecessors did.
- [3] 49. What does Banga believe about decision-making in today's world?
- ① Urgent decisions should be made before listening to subordinates.
- 2 Perfect information is necessary when making important decisions.
- 3 Thoughtful risks should be taken instead of waiting for perfect information.
- 4 Procrastination can help us question unrealistic assumptions and find blind spots.

Obtain competitiveness.
